GOVERNING BOARD PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is with pleasure that I write this brief letter of introduction to the 2016-2017 Annual Report of the National Association of Episcopal Schools at the conclusion of a singular year. In particular, I revel in the chance to think back to our time together in New Orleans for the 2016 Biennial Conference. The content, fellowship, and fare exceeded expectations. It was a fitting and festive way to bid a heartfelt farewell to our longtime friend and colleague—not to mention John D. Verdery Award recipient—David J. Schnabel. We bid him our thanks and best wishes in his retirement.

This year we welcomed three new colleagues to our Governing Board: Dr. Jo Harney (Head of School, Christ Church Episcopal Preschool, Wilmington, DE); The Rev. Faye Somers (Lower School Chaplain, St. Andrew's School, Boca Raton, FL); and Mr. William Moseley (Head of School, St. Margaret's Episcopal School, San Juan Capistrano, CA). Each has rich experience in Episcopal schools and has expanded our vision as a board. And with the close of the year, we offered our gratitude to two special individuals for their years of service on the board. The Rev. Canon Preston B. Hannibal has exercised his commitment to Episcopal education both on the school and the church side as chaplain and trustee at several schools, and as Canon for Academic Ministries while at The National Cathedral. Mr. C. Edward Smith, currently Headmaster at Episcopal High School, Houston, TX, has been an enriching voice in our discussions. Although their terms have ended, our companionship and mutual support will go on.

During the past year I have been reminded of what our being an association provides. I remain confident that the work in which we are engaged remains purposeful and vital, as we follow the footsteps of Jesus on the road to God's true kingdom. Through the prayers and work going on each day in our schools, we assure one another as well as those in our extended communities—especially those less fortunate whom we are called to serve—that good things come out of difficulties when people of faith come together and strive for a greater and common good.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to you for sharing this pilgrimage.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

As we conclude 2016-2017, and thus our guiding theme of “Behold, I will do something new” (Isaiah 43:9), our Episcopal Schools Celebration theme for the year), I am struck by how fitting Isaiah’s proclamation was for the year as we look at it in retrospect. In my meditation for the week of Episcopal Schools Celebration, I remarked about the Hebrew word for “new,” Chadash, which is about the fullness of God, a divine attribute which cannot be limited to past, present, or future. As we all know, our country has become highly polarized over the past year, or, at the very least, our awareness of that polarization has increased. In this context, the character of Episcopal schools can be a guiding light from our present to our future. As I wrote in October:

Episcopal schools are true expressions of what is meant by chadash: finding ourselves in continual renewal, ever alert—thanks to our grounding in what tradition has handed on to us—to the ways that God is doing new things in our lives.

At NAES this year, we took on several new initiatives, including the Mentoring Program for New Chaplains, a collaboration with NAIS on DASL (Data and Analysis for School Leadership—an online tool independent schools can use to find actionable data related to school operations), and an important dialogue with Episcopal bishops to evaluate placement of school chaplains and training of all those who interact with our students.

These things are but a few examples of the way we embark upon new approaches to meet timeless needs—the building up and flourishing of our Episcopal school communities. In all of our diversity, Episcopal schools share a common purpose to be models of God’s love and grace. That calling will remain unchanged, even as we adapt to the specific needs and unanticipated challenges of our rapidly changing world.

The Rev. Daniel R. Heischman, D.D.

Mission & Purpose

Our Mission & Philosophy

The mission of NAES is to serve those who serve Episcopal schools. Within the Christian tradition of inclusion and open inquiry, NAES:

Affirms the spiritual dimension of learning that values both faith and reason.

Creates and nurtures an extended community of leaders in order to foster partnerships, unity, mutual support and professional growth.

Promotes personal formation through moral, spiritual, intellectual, creative, physical and social development.

Assists Episcopal schools in creating supportive communities through worship, learning, pastoral care and service.

Recognizes, appreciates and supports the diversity within and among Episcopal schools.

Helps schools explore, discover and articulate their visions and ministries as Episcopal schools.

Mission & Purpose

What We Do

Consonant with our mission and philosophy, we advance Episcopal education, strengthen Episcopal schools, and foster “excellence through association” by providing essential services, resources, conferences, and networking opportunities on:

Episcopal School Identity as expressed through school worship; religious studies and formation; service and service-learning; equity and justice; and school life and culture.

Leadership and Governance matters pertaining to church-school relations and governance; leadership transition; school ministry recruitment, training, and deployment; and school establishment, expansion, and planning.

Spiritual and Professional Development of heads of school, chaplains and teachers of religion, rectors, trustees and vestries, administrators, and teachers.

EPISCOPAL SCHOOLS CELEBRATION 2016-2017

*“Forget the former things;
do not dwell on the past.
See, I am doing a new thing! Now it springs up;
do you not perceive it?”*

—Isaiah 43:18-19

FROM PRESIDING BISHOP MICHAEL CURRY, IN HIS LETTER TO EPISCOPAL SCHOOLS ON THE OCCASION OF EPISCOPAL SCHOOLS CELEBRATION 2016-2017:

In the Bible, God asks if His chosen people, to whom He has given drink in the wilderness, can perceive the new thing He is about to do for them. I ask you, are you ready to see what new thing God is doing in your school? I do not mean simply the new buildings or the new curricula, but the new ways of being, the new ways of ministering, the new ways of raising up in young people a commitment to justice, equity, and the transformation of this world. Do you perceive how you are to be God's hands, hearts, and minds in this work?

BIENNIAL CONFERENCE 2016: NEW ORLEANS, LA

“Every one of them [keynote speakers and workshops] was enjoyable, challenging, and engaging. Rarely can one say that about any conference.”

“I found it quite inspiring and I think my colleagues (back at school) are a bit overwhelmed with the ideas I have inundated them with on this Monday morning.”

“My team all returned with great ideas, innovative thoughts, and a renewed commitment to the work that we do on behalf of the children we serve. God is gracious and good in putting the right people in our path just as we need them.”

Our 2016 Biennial Conference provided a record number of attendees exceptional learning opportunities, demonstrating the depth of talent and knowledge contained within our association. Always a special time for networking and fellowship, New Orleans provided a particularly hospitable host for Episcopal school colleagues to connect with old colleagues and establish new relationships.

Awards

Ruth Jenkins Award

Mrs. Cynthia C. LaPorte

Cindy LaPorte has been head of school at All Saints' Episcopal Day School, Austin, TX since 2000. She began her career teaching pre-k, kindergarten, and middle school language arts in public schools. She later worked 10 years at a public university in Corpus Christie, TX as a university supervisor of student teachers and as an adjunct professor of education courses. She spent the next 13 years in a variety of positions at St. James Episcopal School in Corpus Christi, with the last 9 years there as the Preschool/Lower School Division Head.

All Saints' was the first stand-alone preschool to be accredited by the Southwestern Association of Episcopal Schools (SAES). Under her leadership, the school has received SAES' Ken Bastian Award for Outstanding Community Service, and the Episcopal identity component of the All Saints' program has been consistently recognized as a model for other schools. She is a member of the Commission on Education for the Episcopal Diocese of Texas, she serves on the SAES Standards Committee, and is a former member of the SAES Board. She is the author of "Episcopal Early Childhood Education Programs" in the second edition of Reasons for Being, The Culture and Character of Episcopal Schools.

John D. Verdery Award

David H. Charlton, Ed.D.

Dr. David H. Charlton has, since 1988, served as president of the Church Schools in the Diocese of Virginia, which comprises six schools and six foundations with an operations budget of $110 million and assets of $400 million. Prior to joining the Church Schools, he served as student dean at Franklin & Marshall College, assistant vice president for business at the College of William & Mary, vice president for administration and finance at Episcopal Theological Seminary, and headmaster of Christchurch School in Christchurch, VA. He is a past member of the NAES Governing Board (2000-2008) and served as its secretary (2002-2003), vice president (2003-2005), and president (2005-2008). Dr. Charlton earned a B.A. in American History, a M.Ed. in Counseling and an Ed.D. in Higher Education Administration—all from The College of William & Mary.

An active Episcopalian, David has served as a trustee and treasurer of Virginia Theological Seminary and the Virginia Diocesan Center at Roslyn, and treasurer of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia. He has served as board chair of Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury and trustee of Rappahannock General Hospital.

Awards

David J. Schnabel, CAE

David Schnabel, CAE, has served NAES for 21 years. David arrived at the Association in 1996. A lifelong Episcopalian and graduate of Dartmouth College with a background in art history, publishing, and museum research, he came to NAES with a deep understanding of The Episcopal Church, keen analytical skills, systems thinking, and a well-honed eye for design and detail.

During his career at NAES, David has developed and implemented an increasingly sophisticated database and association management software system, migrated the Association from print to electronic communication, developed and managed multiple iterations of the NAES website, organized and supported Association conferences—including eleven Biennial conferences—and, perhaps most importantly, responded to member needs and inquiries with the grace, warmth, and responsiveness appreciated by all who encountered him.

David has been an active member of the American Society of Association Executives. He earned his CAE (Certified Association Executive) credential in 2009 and has presented webinars and workshops, contributing to the professional development of his peers.

Visits

Anna's Place NOLA

Anna's Place NOLA is a place of peace where children realize their potential and families and the community are nurtured so that poverty and violence no longer make their home in the Tremé/17th Ward. It promotes healing and wholeness of body, mind, and spirit by offering academic, cultural, and arts enrichment; holistic health care; and healthy lifestyle education.

Café Reconcile

Founded on the premise that the power of reconciliation can help overcome poverty, prejudice, and fear, this faith-based organization ministers to youth in New Orleans. It provides young men and women (16-22) with a voice about issues they are facing, and prepares them for the future with sustainable life skills. It believes that breaking down barriers of race, culture, and religion can lead to systemic change, creating a model of renewal supported by social, spiritual, and economic enrichment.

Innovation + Design at St. Martin's Episcopal School, Metairie, LA

The Innovation + Design program at St. Martin's Episcopal School equips students with the skills and mindsets necessary to succeed in college and in the 21st century workplace, such as adaptability, brainstorming, collaboration, and design. Working alongside faculty, students solve real-world problems by integrating relevant design projects into their curriculum.

2016-2017 Non-Biennial Conference Meetings, Webinars, and Google Hangouts

NAES smaller meetings and digital interactions strengthen Episcopal schools through professional development that is relevant to current trends and issues. A particular focus on the spiritual development of school leaders sets our events apart, just as networking and fellowship provide a distinct context for the important work being accomplished.

In addition to welcoming her as the Opening Session keynote speaker at Biennial Conference 2016, we were proud to send a copy of Dr. Cleveland's book Disunity in Christ: Uncovering the Hidden Forces that Keep Us Apart (Intervarsity Press, 2013) to each of our 2016-2017 members. In this book, she examines and offers research-based strategies to overcome the non-conscious cognitive, emotional, and identity processes that pull Christians into homogeneous groups, fuel inaccurate perceptions of culturally-different others, contribute to an "Us vs. Them" mentality, stimulate intergroup prejudice and hostility, and ultimately inhibit reconciliation. The book received the 2013 Leadership Journal Book Award.
