Governing Board President's Message

Episcopal schools take a distinct approach to nurturing future leaders. Our school communities are not content to remain in our comfort zones. We are boldly counter-cultural. The high standards we set for ourselves are grounded in the knowledge that every child is a gift of God and alive with potential. Living into our work is no small task and it requires skill and heart. For the past 50 years, NAES has nurtured the leaders who embrace this mission.

It was a joy for me to serve as Governing Board President during our association's jubilee year, and I feel this introduction to 2015-2016 is best used as a tribute. Looking back on the incredible individuals who have led us to this point in our history—from founders Ruth Jenkins and John Verdery to Biennial Conference 2014 honorees Mrs. Laura Walker and the Rev. Peter G. Cheney—it occurs to me that, as much as they did to shape our association they were in turn shaped by it. NAES is a network of reciprocal enrichment.

This 50th Anniversary was also a time to appreciate the outstanding talent emerging among our future leaders, visible in workshop presentations, webinar and blog postings, and the peer-to-peer support facilitated by NAES. It was my great pleasure to welcome two such individuals to the Governing Board in 2014-2015. Janet S. Pullen, Ed.D. and Cynthia Weldon-Lassiter, Ed.D. are both women of vision and dedication. As I step into retirement I will nonetheless watch with pride as they flourish.

I am likewise pleased and grateful to welcome two new members to the Muhlenberg Society. The Revs. Peter Cheney, former NAES Executive Director and Michael Spencer, my colleague on the Governing Board have both generously invested their personal gifts in the growth of our association. Their assurance of future support underscores their deep commitment to this ministry.

My great thanks go to the excellent NAES staff. Our tireless Executive Director Dan Heischman has championed this 50th Anniversary, in order to extend the reach and capacity of our association. Associate Director Ann Mellow's vigorous engagement throughout the field ensures her advice is not only authoritative but effective. Director of Operations Linda Glad masterfully administers the association's resources to ensure that programs are maximized and NAES is in ruddy health for years to come. Communications & Events Manager David Schnabel—whose longevity with our community nearly qualified him for inclusion on the 25+ years list—applies innovation and attention to member’s needs. Advancement Manager Sarah Badgerow supported the association’s first-ever capital campaign with zest, taking to heart the significant impact the enhanced resources will have for NAES members. Lastly, although she is no longer with our team, thanks to Administrative Assistant Stephanie Koch for her enthusiastic contribution to the seemingly effortless functioning of the office.

As I fully embrace the tremendous possibilities afforded in retirement, I want to take advantage of this letter as one more chance to express the high esteem in which I hold all of you, my colleagues in Episcopal schools. The formation of children is a magnificent endeavor. NAES serves our mission not only by offering valuable resources, but by connecting us to our most important asset—one another. Thank you for your work during the 50th Anniversary of our association.

Thanks and aloha,

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

The 2014-2015 year was truly an exceptional time for the National Association of Episcopal Schools. I feel personally blessed to have had the opportunity to serve our association during our 50th Anniversary. As you can imagine, the flurry of activity and excitement of such a milestone leaves little time to savor the occasion. The production of this Annual Report, however, offers me the opportunity to step back and put words to the deep gratitude I feel.

The theme for the past year was “The Year of the Lord’s Favor.” It was based on the account of Jesus in the temple, as a young man, from the Gospel of Luke. In this unique episode from his growing up years, Jesus makes an initial appearance as teacher, on his home turf, and draws from the prophet Isaiah, declaring the year of the Lord’s favor and offering a surprising vision for what that might entail. Any of those who knew Jesus and his family who might have been expecting a sentimental return were quickly challenged to consider what transformative work was now expected of them. A new era had begun.

Throughout our 50th Anniversary year, we took part in our own kind of homecoming: giving thanks for the many leaders and visionaries who have brought this organization to its current strength and taking genuine pride in the many decades of service provided to those who serve in Episcopal schools. What’s more, it has been a great jubilee for all of our schools: not simply a celebration of NAES, but a time of rejoicing for our members and highlighting the extraordinary work they have done throughout the years, in association with one another. It has also been, true to the biblical theme of the Jubilee year, a time to challenge ourselves into the near eras awaiting us in the future.

This Annual Report attempts to collect in one place the celebrations and the impact of this past year. You’ll read highlights from our Biennial Conference 2014 as well as from the very full complement of ongoing work for our staff, who remained throughout the year unflaggingly committed to living out our tagline of “serving those who serve Episcopal schools.”

This report also provides one more opportunity for us to say thank you.

Thank you to our members, not least of all those who are listed in this report as 25+ or 50 year members.

Thank you to our donors who have sustained us over five decades and now, through the Gathering Fund, have provided for our shared future. The details of this initiative are to be found in the following pages, but I must say that I have been genuinely humbled by the reception this campaign received. Of course, we could not have met, let alone exceeded, our $1million goal without the hard work and investment of many people, so I am compelled as well to say an enthusiastic thank you to our entire Governing Board, our regional leaders—schools, trustees, heads, and chaplains—who took this cause on as their own, and especially the members of the Executive Campaign Committee who met regularly to strategize and conduct extensive outreach.

Thank you to our leaders, past and present, who have shaped our identity.

On this note, I wish to recognize two individuals deserving of particular praise. The Rt. Rev. Thomas Breidenthal completed his term after six years on the NAES Governing Board. Bishop Breidenthal's spiritual depth, as well as unique blend of intellectual insight and wisdom, has left an indelible mark on our association and we are profoundly grateful to him. Also completing her term on the NAES Governing Board, we say thank you to our outgoing President, Doreen S. Oleson, Ed.D. Throughout her distinguished career, Dr. Oleson has been a paragon of what Episcopal schools strive to be, most recently demonstrated in her recognition with the National Association of Independent Schools Diversity Leadership Award. As she moves into retirement, we know that her considerable energy and gifts will continue to be put to good use for independent schools everywhere, and we send her off with our most heartfelt thanks.

I hope that this Annual Report communicates to you, a valued member of our community, something of the singular nature of what has truly been for us a jubilee year. At the same time I trust it will leave you as excited as we are for the transformative work that lies ahead, during the next 50 years of "excellence through association."

Warm regards,

The Rev. Daniel R. Heischman, D.D.

CELEBRATING 50 YEARS of Excellence Through Association

May 28, 2015 marked the 50th anniversary of the creation and incorporation of NAES. Throughout the academic year, we celebrated, honored, and remembered our ministry with and on behalf of the nearly 1,200 Episcopal schools, early childhood education programs, and school establishment efforts. During the 78th General Convention of the Episcopal Church, NAES was honored with two resolutions recognizing our work;

Celebrating 50 Years of Excellence Through Association continued...

From the House of Bishops:

Resolved, That the 78th General Convention honor the National Association of Episcopal Schools (NAES) as they celebrated their 50th Anniversary on May 28, 2015; and be it further

Resolved, That this 78th General Convention commend NAES for their service to Episcopal schools combining a strong commitment to our Christian tradition as well as a spirit of inclusion and open inquiry on behalf of the nearly 1,200 Episcopal schools, early childhood education programs, and school establishment efforts.

And from the House of Deputies:

Resolved, That the 78th General Convention of The Episcopal Church commend the National Association of Episcopal Schools for advancing Episcopal education and strengthening the 1,174 Episcopal schools and early childhood education programs through essential services and resources on Episcopal school identity, leadership, and governance, and on the spiritual and professional development and fellowship of school leaders; and be it further

Resolved, That the 78th General Convention of The Episcopal Church encourage dioceses, congregations, and individuals to celebrate and support the work of the National Association of Episcopal Schools during this, its 50th year, and in years to come, particularly during the week beginning with the first Sunday of October, known in the Episcopal school community as Episcopal Schools Celebration.”

#naes50th

As part of our 50th anniversary celebration in 2014-2015, NAES sponsored a social media event in the fifty days leading into our actual birthday on May 28, 2015. It was designed to showcase our members and how they live out their missions and ministries. Posts tagged #naes50th and #episcopal enabled other Episcopal schools, the Church, and the wider community to learn about them. You can search #naes50th today. We are grateful to all of those that participated, helping us raise awareness of our collective work!

Each week of the event, we asked schools to share, via Twitter and Facebook, photos, stories, and videos about the schools live out these aspects of their Episcopal identity:

April 9-11: School Mission Statements

April 12-18: Episcopal Identity Signs and Symbols

April 19-25: Chapel & Worship

April 26-May 2: Equity & Justice

May 3-9: Study of Religion

May 10-16: Community Service

May 17-23: Servant Leaders in the School

May 24-28: Birthday Wishes to NAES

MEMBERS are OUR REASON for BEING

We were humbled and grateful this year to be able to honor a long list of schools that have been part of our association for 25+ or even indeed since our very founding 50 years ago. Thank you to these schools as well as all of those that have joined us along the way!

PEOPLE are OUR GREATEST STRENGTH

“I feel that the greatest strength that we have has to do with the people that are associated with NAES.”

The Ruth Jenkins Award honors a founder of NAES who was head of Annie Wright Schools in Tacoma, WA, and the Bishop's School in La Jolla, CA. An advocate for women's leadership in the Episcopal Church, Dr. Jenkins was elected in 1949 as a deputy to the Church's General Convention but refused her seat. She subsequently participated in the "Joint Commission to Consider the Problems of Giving the Women of the Church a Voice in the Legislation of the General Convention" (1951), and later served as a deputy.

At the 50th Anniversary Biennial Conference, NAES was proud to confer this award on Laura C. Walker a long-term Episcopal and independent schools leader in Florida and on a national level. She began her work in Episcopal schools in 1983 as a teacher at St. Thomas Episcopal Parish School, Coral Gables, FL where she rose to become Head of School (1988-1995). She also served as Head of School and President of Palmer Trinity School in Palmetto Bay (1995-2003), and as the Interim Head of School at Saint Joseph's Episcopal School in Boynton Beach (2004-2005). Beginning in 1995, she began a ten-year term of service to the NAES Governing Board, culminating in three years as President of the Board from 2002-2005. She has also served on the boards of the Florida Council of Independent Schools, the Dade County Association of Academic Non-Public Schools, and a number of philanthropic and cultural institutions in greater Miami.

The John D. Verdery Award is named in honor of the long-term headmaster (1942-1976) of Wooster School in Danbury, CT. A co-founder of NAES, Mr. Verdery, an Episcopal priest, was an articulate advocate for the value of Episcopal education and the religious identity of our schools. As president of the NAES Governing Board, he was instrumental in nurturing NAES as an organization through his hands-on leadership at critical points during the association's early years.

At the 50th Anniversary Biennial Conference, NAES was proud to confer this award on the Rev. Peter G. Cheney, who was Executive Director of NAES from July 1998 through June 2007. Under his leadership, the association inaugurated its Principles of Good Practice series; established the Outreach Fund Grants program; wrote and implemented two strategic plans (2001 and 2006); revamped its communication, technology, and staffing infrastructure; grew its membership to an all-time high of 500 schools; and instituted a fiscal plan that enabled it to create a significant reserve fund. Ordained to the priesthood in 1976, he served a number of parishes before joining the faculty and staff of St. Paul's School, Concord, NH, in 1983. While at St. Paul's, he served as chaplain, counselor, teacher, coach, and director of admissions. He returned to parish ministry before coming to NAES. Since departure from NAES, he has served on the boards of St. Paul's School, and Imago Dei Middle School and St. Michael's Parish Day School, Tucson, AZ.

Past recipients of the John D. Verdery Award include:

- 2012 - The Rev. P. Roger Bowen, D.D.
- 2010 - The Rev. Richardson W. Schell

- 2004 - The Rev. Deacon Frances C. Kay,
Karen O. Strimple, Donn D. Wright
- 2002 - Russell W. Ingersoll, Connie R. Wootton
- 2000 - Robert D. Klarsch, Joyce D. Jurik,
Jody Parsons-Prichard,
The Rev. Canon William P. Scheel,
Isabelle Schuessler,
The Rev. Canon Ernest D. Sillers,
The Rev. Brinton W. Woodward, Jr.

GATHERING for the FUTURE

For 50 years, NAES has gathered with our members to learn, share best practices, and draw support and hope from our collective vision. At this milestone, the association embarked on its first-ever capital campaign, the NAES 50th Anniversary Gathering Fund, to gather resources for our shared future of excellence through association. Launched at the Biennial Conference in Anaheim, the goal was to raise $1million by NAES's "official" birthday on May 28, 2015. This goal was exceeded, well in advance of the target date. In response, Dan Heischman (Executive Director) said, "the gathering of schools, individuals, church-related organizations, and foundations has been widespread and abundant, and we cannot thank them enough for being a part of this substantial and generous mosaic." These funds will support growth in three programmatic priorities:

The Jubilee School Fund - to provide support for the Episcopal Urban School Alliance, make available funds to member schools in support of the Haiti Partnership Program, and provide NAES scholarships and dues adjustments to schools in financial need.

The Rev. Peter G. Cheney Fund for Leadership and Governance - to support institutes for aspiring heads and heads new to Episcopal schools, to fund webinars for heads of schools, and to establish annual spiritual retreats for heads of schools. With the endorsement of those who have given to it, the Jonathan T. Glass Memorial Fund will be rolled into this new fund and we have established the Jonathan T. Glass Institute for New Heads to perpetuate the memory of this significant leader in NAES's history.

The Rev. George E. Andrews II Endowment for Chaplaincy Development - to offer orientation and mentoring of new school chaplains, to establish an online course for school chaplains, and to provide funds for chaplains to attend NAES-related events and conferences.

This campaign benefitted immensely from the experience, wisdom, and ingenuity of the volunteer Executive Campaign Committee. Thank you to these individuals for your investment of time, thoughtfulness, passion, and outreach:

The Rev. George E. Andrews II, Boca Raton, FL
Mr. Douglas H. Evans, New York, NY
Mr. A. Burns Jones, Greensboro, NC
Lucy C Nazro, D.H.L., Austin, TX

Mrs. Kathryn Runnells, Austin, TX
The Rev. Michael E. Spencer, Concord, NH

Additional leadership in the campaign was provided by a group of NAES member schools that came together to offer a $70,000+ challenge gift. Thank you to these schools for inspiring your peers to action:

St. Christopher's School, Richmond, VA
St. Margaret's School, Tappahannock, VA
St. Stephen's & St. Agnes School, Alexandria, VA
Stuart Hall, Staunton, VA

The Gathering Fund also offered an opportunity to honor two significant leaders in NAES's history, the Rev. George E. Andrews II and the Rev. Peter G. Cheney.

Said Mr. Andrews of this honor:

In 2 Corinthians 5:20, Paul writes, 'Therefore, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were making his appeal through us.' This statement by Paul captures for me the most important ministry our school chaplains have in the life of our Episcopal school communities—to be the channels through which God's love is expressed and shared with all members! It is a privilege to support through programs and prayer the wonderful ministry of school chaplains in the life of our beloved Episcopal schools.

Said Mr. Cheney:

You could have knocked me over with a feather when I learned that the Leadership and Governance Fund had been named in my honor, and I am particularly grateful for my friends and fellow trustees at St. Paul's School who initiated this award. My work and affiliation with my colleagues on the staff and board at NAES, along with Episcopal school heads, chaplains and trustees in the Association, has been inspiring and gratifying, as, together, we seek to foster the spiritual, moral and intellectual development of children and young people.

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

In the fall, NAES was proud to launch the Episcopal Identity and Culture Self-Study—an instrument for reflection on those outward and tangible expressions that make a school truly Episcopal in identity and character. The Self-Study is grounded in our Principles of Good Practice and covers those characteristics that often set Episcopal schools apart; Mission, Governance, School Ministry, Chapel and Worship, Study of Religion, and Equity, Justice, Service, and Service-Learning. To support the launch, NAES offered a webinar for accrediting agencies and published a user-friendly webpage devoted to this new tool.

This year, NAES sent each member school a copy of Dan Heischman's most recent book, What Schools Teach Us About Religious Life. As reviewed in "Outlook", the newsletter for the Council for Private Education, "page after page provides fresh insight and rich narrative on how schools foster a life of faith, develop a sense of service, and enrich the spirit."

Also, through the generosity of a parent at one of our schools, we were able to send each member a copy of Wonder by R.J. Palacio. This is a compelling account of a young man who lives with a facial deformity, who enters an independent school. It is a story of inclusion—how difficult that process can be, as well as how valiant the struggle can be to achieve it.

GATHERING to LEARN

By gathering people and schools, we have built an association of committed people, overcoming isolation and complacency and providing the opportunity to engage in learning opportunities, worship, and sharing of common aspirations. This year, NAES continued its vital consultative work, connecting with well over 100 schools to address challenges and build on strengths. Our members gathered from across the country in Anaheim, CA for our 50th Anniversary Biennial Conference and the Annual Meeting of the Episcopal Urban School Alliance (EUSA), in San Francisco for an Early Childhood Education Program, in Covington, LA for a Leadership and Governance Workshop, and in a cold, snowy Boston for a Heads Retreat.

Immediately preceding the 50th Anniversary Biennial Conference in Anaheim, CA a dozen representatives of EUSA convened for fellowship, to share best practices, strategize and welcome a new member. They discussed their ongoing work, the impact of the previous year's release through NAES of the EUSA videos, how the Alliance can support new schools and exploratory committees committed to their shared mission, and maximizing their network through exchange visits. The group formally approved and welcomed the Neighborhood Academy, in Pittsburgh, PA for membership in EUSA.

In January, 20 Early Childhood Education leaders joined Ann Mellow and former NAES Executive Director Ann Gordon at Saint Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church, Concord, CA to explore how preschool programs express the core values of the Church and share practical tools for shared spaces and expenses and sound financial management.

In September, we continued our important collaboration with the Southwestern Association of Episcopal Schools (SAES) with a co-sponsored Leadership and Governance Workshop in Covington,

LA. NAES led sessions included What Difference Does It Make to Be An Episcopal School? and Leading Together: A Look at Parish Day School Governance.

In February, 12 individuals gathered before the National Association of Independent School's annual meeting in Boston to consider the numerous roles performed by Heads of School, including the role of head as spiritual leader, and the importance of self-care and spiritual nurturing for these leaders. Participants came away refreshed, with important tools to carry with them back to school, and prepared to make the most of their sessions at NAIS. Reflecting on the experience, Dr. Jan Pullen (Head of School, Saint Stephen's Episcopal School, Bradenton, FL) said, the snowy white campus of historic Harvard and the warm welcoming words of John Finley and Dan Heischman set the perfect tone for the NAES Head's Retreat in February 2015. The day brought the unique opportunity to find the time for prayer, song, silence, reflection and engaging conversation around the topic of why we do the work we do. I didn't know exactly what to expect when I came, but I was absolutely thrilled with what I left with from the retreat!

GATHERING to CELEBRATE Biennial Conference 2014

Two weeks ago the National Association of Episcopal Schools held its biennial convention here, at the Anaheim Convention Center. If you don't think of that as an interfaith gathering, think again! Sure, the worship parts of this convention were recognizably Episcopalian, but you only had to visit the extraordinary chapel set aside for morning prayers and quiet time; listen to any of the keynote speakers...; or pick up a book entitled The Tree of World Religions by John Bellaimy to experience the essence of the interfaith future that is also the present reality in our Episcopal schools. Our public schools are accountable to a different set of standards governed by the state rather than the church, and we need these, too. But our Episcopal schools enjoy the privilege of being able to explore more freely the interfaith reality of the now and to continue to live it out.

—The Rt. Rev. Mary D. Glasspool
Bishop Suffragan, The Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles

Our 50th Anniversary Biennial Conference brought together a powerful set of inspiring leaders from diverse fields—all of whom shared poignant messages with our attendees. Over 60 workshops, Deep Dives and Special Focus Sessions allowed our members to exchange the collective knowledge that makes our association remarkable. Featured speakers included the Most Rev. Katharine Jefferts Schori, Ph.D., Steven Jones, Ph.D., and Tina Payne Bryson, Ph.D. Madeline Levine Ph.D., noted psychologist and author, offered the address at our keynote breakfast. The Presiding Bishop also presided and preached at our Opening Eucharist.

The Chapel at this Biennial Conference, created by Patti Peebles, Chaplain at St. John's Episcopal

School Rancho Santa Margarita, CA along with Daniel Wheeler, WheelerMADE, Los Angeles, CA transformed a run-of-the-mill hotel meeting room into an authentically sacred space. Home to daily Morning Prayer featuring adult and student homilist, the space integrated multisensory, self-directed stations inspiring new ways to pray. Attendees found stations devoted to quieting the “crazy compass” in our heads, breath prayers, Scrabble prayers, even one offering a way to integrate our cell phones—by inviting us to pray for the last individual with whom we communicated.

Finally, at the "pray by number" panel, designed by Daniel Wheeler, Chapel visitors wrote prayers on the back of colored, numbered cards and affixed them to the corresponding square on a large panel. When all the cards were eventually in place, the image of Jesus was revealed through the amalgamated prayers.

NAES' 50th Anniversary Gala Dinner was certainly a night to remember. Attendees, turned out in gala attire, were treated to a jazz trio, signature cocktail, and Mr. Earvin "Magic" Johnson, Jr.! NBA Legend, two-time Hall of Famer, entrepreneur, philanthropist, and Episcopal school parent and grandparent, Mr. Johnson addressed our festive gathering with warmth and humility, doling out hugs, wisdom and high praise for the role of the teacher in children's lives.
